Audit Committee Essentials: This book provides a platform for discussing the challenges that organizations face in order to implement sustainability, ethics, and effective corporate governance, all of which are important elements of "standing out" from other companies. Examining the background of the New European Commission on development with the new guiding motto "One World, One Planet, Our Future," the authors explore how this new legislation on sustainability issues around the world is forcing companies to deal directly with sustainability issues. The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development (2030 Agenda), adopted by the United Nations in September 2015, is the international community's response to global challenges and trends in achieving sustainable development. With the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) at its core, the Agenda is a transformative political framework designed to eradicate poverty and achieve sustainable development globally. It is an innovation in measurement and environmental and social dimensions of sustainable development, including the key issues of governance, poverty, and inclusive societies, and recognizes the complex interrelationships between its goals and targets, i.e., that they must be implemented as a whole and not separately. The respective chapters in this volume cover a number of questions regarding companies' ability to implement sustainability, ethics, and effective corporate governance. Simultaneously, they explore how organizations must adapt to sustainability-related developments.

Law, Corporate Governance and Accounting

Financial Services Firms: The reputation of corporate reporting has been in crisis. Trust in the process of financial accounting and auditing has been undermined by a series of high-profile scandals involving major corporations, including Enron, Parmalat, Alcan, and WorldCom. In response, regulatory and practitioner worlds worldwide have put forward a series of initiatives to repair the damage and restore faith in corporate governance. In this important book, the European Accounting Research Network analyzes how that response has developed in Europe, with particular emphasis on the field of auditing. Leading international academics review how regulation has been revised in specific European countries to help restore confidence in the contribution of corporate auditing to governance. Various themes are explored, including the growing trend of internationalization in regulation, ethics and auditing, professional liability, and professional education. Auditing, Trust and Governance is an invaluable volume for students, researchers and professionals working in the fields of auditing, accounting and corporate governance, and provides a useful basis for further research on the effects of the increased regulation.

Ethics and Sustainability in Accounting and Finance

Law, Corporate Governance and Accounting: The book provides an overview of the governmental accounting status quo in Europe by analysing the public sector accounting, budgeting and auditing systems in fourteen European countries. It sheds light on the challenges faced by European countries as they move towards adoption of the European Public Sector Accounting Standards (EPSAS).

In Institutions (AAOIFI) to provide accounting standards for Islamic Financial Institutions (IFIs), there is still no standardized accounting for Islamic financial transactions. The main concern today is that the accounting policies adopted by (IFRS) as a common global financial reporting language, are compelling international accounting organizations to consider Islamic accounting. Despite the existence of the Accounting and Auditing Organization for Islamic Financial Institutions (AAOIFI), the lack of a standardized approach to accounting for Islamic financial transactions remains a challenge. In the book, the writers examine the process of developing and implementing the International Accounting and Auditing Organization for Islamic Financial Institutions (IAAIFI) to provide accounting standards for Islamic Financial Institutions (IFRs), there is no one standard set of financial accounting for Islamic financial transactions. The main concern today is that the accounting policies adopted by Islamic financial institutions (IFIs) are not standardized. Accounting, Auditing, Ethics and Governance In Auditor Independence, Ismail Adelopo argues that the importance of auditors' independence cannot be over-emphasized. Not only do auditors provide certification of the truth and fairness of the financial statements, they also have a duty to express opinions on the degree of compliance with laws and regulations guiding a firm's operations. Theirs is a socially important responsibility. In all that has been proposed to improve the quality and effectiveness of financial reporting, the role of auditors and the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Canada (ICAC), the institute that represents the Chartered Professional Accountants of Canada (CPAs), have been the focus of many recommendations.
